A Report on Two-Day Departmental Workshop/Seminar Organized under the aegis of Department Of Zoology (PG-Section), Pub Kamrup College.

Event summary

A two-day departmental workshop was organized on 15th and 16th September, 2022 under the aegis of Department Of Zoology (PG-Section), Pub Kamrup College. A total of 4 talks were delivered during the 2-day event by distinguished resource persons of varied fields pertaining to life sciences. The workshop was attended by 120 attendees including students and faculty members from different departments.

The workshop was inaugurated by Dr. Kamal Sarma, Coordinator, Advanced Level Institutional Biotech Hub and Associate Professor, Dept. of Zoology. Other members presiding over the inaugural meeting included Dr. Dipen Bezbaruah, IQAC Coordinator, Pub Kamrup College and faculties from the departments of Physics and Political Sciences.

On 15th September, the inaugural talk was delivered by Dr. Pranjal Kumar Das, Senior Manager, Wildlife Genetics Division, Aaranyak on applications of genetics and molecular biology tools. The talk primarily focused on the use of modern genetics and molecular biology tools in assessing rhino migration and population dynamics. Dr. Das also represented data indicating genetic disparity between rhino populations of Assam and West Bengal. Ms. Anushka Saikia, former researcher, Thenmala Macaque Project delivered the second talk of the day which was a vivid representation on topics including methodologies of primate research and applications of web-based tools for field-level guidance in birding. Each session was approximately of 2 hour duration.

On 16th September, the inaugural talk was delivered by Dr. Deba Kumar Dutta, Landscape Coordinator, Manas Sub-Landscape emphasizing the application of telemetry devices in studying wildlife behavior, migration and mitigating man-animal conflict. The talk was supplemented by hands-on-training in handling basic radio-telemetry devices under the guidance of Dr. Dutta. Mr. Jyotishman Deka, Field Biologist, Manas National Park delivered the following talk on tools and techniques pertaining to GIS mapping and on the ecological importance of biodiversity hotspots. Each session was approximately of 2 hour duration.

Every session of the workshop was followed by a structured process of interaction between the students and faculty members with the resource persons. This included discussions on critical issues related to wildlife conservation, prospective career and R&D opportunities in life sciences and finding newer avenues of collaborative work. The workshop culminated with brief valedictory arrangements for the resource persons while the concluding remark was delivered by Dr. Kamal Sarma.

A Report of the two days National Seminar on 'Gender Equity and Women Empowerment with Special Reference to North East India' held on 18/11/2022 & 19/11/2022

An ICSSR sponsored two days National Seminar was organized at the Pub Kamrup College on 18th and 19th November 2022 organised by the Political Scienc Department and Pub Kamrup College Library in collaboration with Anundoram Borooah Institute of Language, Art & Culture (ABILAC), Assam. The Sub-themes covered in the seminar are:

- Theoretical Understanding on Gender Equity and Women Empowerment
- Gender Equity and Sustainable Development Goals (SDG)
- Gender Roles and society
- Culture, religion and women
- Traditions, values and Gender Issues
- Skill enhancement, Entrepreneurship and Women Empowerment
- Education and Women empowerment
- Socio-economic and political empowerment of women
- Factors of gender segregation
- Policy measures to attain gender equity.
- Any other relevant topic.

Main Objective of the seminar:

The main objective of the seminar is to highlight the importance of gender equity to achieve sustainable development in India in general and in North East India in particular. In this regard, through this seminar it is expected that the academic community will try to figure out the issues related to gender equity and allied social dimensions in the context of North East India. The study about the different fields i.e. work force participation, educational achievements and issues of violence in the context of North East India will help us to understand about gender positions in the region. The seminar will carry forward layouts for both the policy makers and administration regarding the basic policy requirements and will offer recommendations to address the same.

Dr Medhi, in his address mentioned about the need of primary data based systematic research to find out new knowledge on the issue of gender equity and women empowerment especially in North East India. In the valedictory session certificates were distributed among the participants. The session was concluded with a vote of thanks offered by Dr. Hemasri Devi, Assistant Convener, Seminar Organising Committee.

Important Suggestions/ Recommendations of the Seminar:

1. Need of the hour is to improve the condition of women in many dimensions and give them equal opportunities and access, dignity and respect which all she deserves.
2. Women are the backbone of the society and to eradicate all forms of discrimination against women, they should be empowered.
3. Laws guaranteeing better rights to women in terms of inheritance, land and other property, employment, family and others foster an environment where women's rights are seen as basic human rights and foster positive public perceptions of women's rights and dignity.
4. It is utmost necessity to respect the women keeping the bars of gender discrimination and inequality behind for the social, cultural and economical upliftment of the nation.
5. Self-dependence and self-reliant is the key feature of empowerment. SHG's are promoting remarked drive for economic independency and self-confidence of rural women in a real sense.
6. A focus on development of skills in women would be crucial in motivating them to development of life skills that will lead to higher paying and good equality jobs, better livelihood, economic independence and the ability to earn for families. Sustainable development is possible only with gender equality and women empowerment.
7. For women to be truly empowered, autonomy is essential. And true autonomy is only possible when the number of options a woman had and the quality of these options when they made their choice is also put into realization.
8. Tourism industry has an important role to play in strengthening women's position financially and socially.
9. The education of Women is the most powerful tool to ensure national development.
10. Women themselves should come forward united and fight for their rights and freedom.
11. There should be huge change in the mindset of the people. The society can flourish only when women are given equal share in every sphere of life.
12. A comprehensive approach to SDG 5 that leverages synergies between SDG 5 and other Goals and promotes systematic mainstreaming of gender perspectives in implementing the 2030 Agenda will contribute both to realizing gender equality and the empowerment of women and girls as well as to ensure progress across all Goals and targets.
13. To achieve gender equality, gender sensitization plays a significant role in the society.
14. Much more progress remains, especially towards women leadership and labour participation rate. This demands framing sound and target oriented policies to fill the gaps.
15. Needs of transgendered to be equally addressed.
